

ENGLISH SCHOOLS CRICKET ASSOCIATION

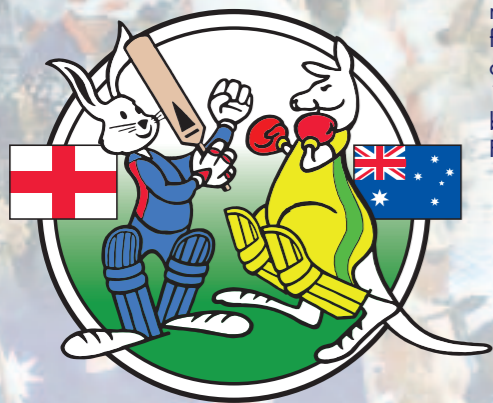

CROSSROADS CENTRE
Antigua

The Bunbury ESCA festival is unquestionably the most important schools cricket week for U15s in this country. It represents the pinnacle in a young cricketer's career and the opportunity to play for England. In fact 95% of all current England Test cricketers have been discovered at the Bunbury ESCA festival including Vaughan, Flintoff, Trescothick, Collingwood, Cook, Bell and Bopara. For example 9 of the 11 England Players who beat Australia in the 2005 Ashes Series are Bunbury Old Boys.

Sir Ian Botham is known to millions around the world as one of the legends of English cricket, but he is now equally well known for his tireless support of Leukaemia Research. With the dedicated support of family, crew and an army of volunteers and fundraisers, Ian has been an inspiration to those facing the terrifying prospect of fighting cancer. He has completed 12 fundraising walks raising millions of pounds for research, saving lives and improving treatments dramatically and most of all bringing hope to families when they most need it. Thanks to Beefy's extraordinary efforts, Leukaemia Research has now identified cancer stem cells in children, and with your support this evening, the next phase of research is likely to bring survival rates for children with the most common form of leukaemia to 95 % within the next 10 years - a 75% increase since Beefy began fundraising in the eighties. Crossroads Centre is a non-profit alcohol and drug treatment facility founded by Mr. Eric Clapton on the beautiful island of Antigua, West Indies. Residential and outpatient services are provided within a Twelve-Step framework while integrating key complementary therapies to provide a whole person approach to treatment and ongoing recovery. We believe that through a program of abstinence and change and improvement in lifestyle, people and families have the capacity to recover from addiction. Indeed, recovery from addiction is possible and is often lifesaving.

In addition to our alcohol and drug rehabilitation program, services include: intervention referrals, aftercare planning, transitional living residences, and an integrated family program, community education and addiction research. Crossroads is committed to its mission to provide quality treatment that is affordable. To this end, donations made to the Crossroads Foundation help assist those who are unable to afford the full cost of treatment. We are here to help individuals and their families whose lives are controlled by alcohol, drugs or other compulsive behaviours - Helping them to make the changes necessary to find new health, a new sense of well-being and a new life of recovery.
